

What's New

An Overview of New AbaData Functionality:

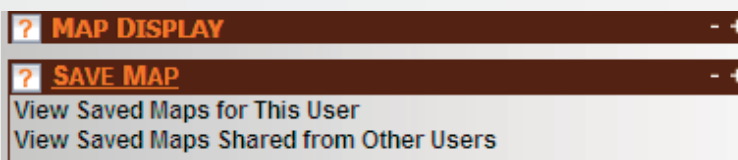

Display Option Sections

Each section of map display options (which you'll find along the left-hand side of the screen when logged in to AbaData), are now enclosed within a frame and identified by a heading as shown above.

All of the links to Options screens and functions within the sections are exactly as they were before the redesign.

However, some sections can now be closed or opened by clicking the plus or minus sign in the top-right corner of each heading. When closed, the content will be completely removed from the page. A closed section will appear as in the image below.

Saving Preferences

If you would prefer to have a section open or closed by default, click the ADMIN button in the AbaData toolbar, which will open the screen in the image above. Then click the Sections tab, indicate your preference and click Save.

Navigating Lists

Some longer filter lists, such as spill and complaint type or facility type, contain links in the heading to sections of the list, arranged alphabetically. Click a letter to navigate to the corresponding list section.
